29th Sunday Ordinary Time

Readings:

Is 45:1, 4-6
1 Thes 1:1-5b
Mt 22:15-21

From the time we were small, we were told that we were created in God's image. And we have heard Jesus tell us that God is love; therefore, it goes logically that we are love, too. When Jesus was asked if he thought it was lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, he deftly explained that Caesar's face was on the coin, therefore it belonged to the Roman ruler. But he also said for us to give to God what is God's; in this statement, he is referring to the love in our hearts and that we are stamped in his image. Thus, we belong to God, and in recognizing the limits of worldly possessions, we keep only love and share it freely.

From the start of his public ministry, Jesus was up against the ropes. Pharisees and certain loyalists to King Herod conspired to destroy him, primarily because of his own interpretation of religious laws and his insistence on sharing meals with sinners and tax collectors (CCC 574). But even trick questions such as the lawfulness of a Roman tax couldn't sway his truthful answers; God very powerfully yet very simply asks us to put goodness and love of each other first and foremost in our lives, and everything else will take care of itself.

Catholic Community Annual Appeal

Bishop Coakley has asked all people of the Salina Diocese to help meet the financial needs of ministry by the diocesan church. The diocese helps thousands of people every year through Catholic Charities, education office, marriage tribunal, youth office, and vocation office. These diocesan offices provide services to many people who do not have the means to pay for these services. In addition to the work of these offices, the annual appeal helps fund the priest retirement fund, providing health care and a stipend to our retired priests.

We all have a need to give back to God part of the blessings God has given to us. The bible asks that we give 10% of our income back to God through charitable giving. While everyone must decide on their own where they give their 10%, the diocese asks that everyone give 1% of their income to the diocesan church. To contribute to the diocesan appeal, please place your contribution in the envelope provided in your packet, or place your donation in a blank envelope and mark it “Annual Appeal.” May God reward you for your generosity!
